FRANCO-SERVIANS NEAR GATES OF MACEDONIAN FORTRESS OF MONASTIR

Six German Aeroplanes Are Shot Down on Somme Front by French.

TEUTONS GAIN IN RUMANIA

PARIS, Nov. 18.—Six German aeroplanes were shot down in the air battles on Friday, the French war office announced today. With clearing weather air activity has become much greater, especially over the Somme front.

Franco-Servian troops engaged in the furious struggle for the Macedonian fortress of Monastir, have both made fresh progress and are now almost at the gates of the city.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Heavy British attacks northeast of Beaumont Hamel and north of Beaucourt, advanced the British lines closer to Bapaume. Gains in both these sectors on the Somme front were reported by the war office today.

German guns were kept trained on Beaumont Hamel and Hebuterne all night. Adjoining positions were bombarded also.

The official statement reported also a successful trench raid north of Ypres in West Flanders. The raiding party brought back with them 20 German prisoners and a machine gun.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 18. — The wholesale removal of Belgians into Germany is depopulating the country, according to refugees who have fled into Holland. Batches of these fugitives are arriving daily, although they have to conduct their flight secretly and at night in order to get by the German frontier guards.

These fugitives report that the Germans have deported about 40,000 persons and that the military authorities expect to remove thousands more.

Widespread panic prevailsvbgkqj

Panic prevails throughout the kingdom and the German military rule has become much more strict.

No Belgian has been allowed to leave the country since the Germans gained domination of the kingdom.

When the Germans began removing the Belgians and the alarm was raised among the civilian population hundreds tried to cross into East Zeland, a province of Holland bordering Belgium. Some of the fugitive bands contained as many as 200 men.

The Germans have fitted up tugs armed with machine guns to patrol the Scheldt river, which the fugitives have to cross to get into Holland. The fugitives had to undergo severe hardships, wading in icy water that reached their necks and crossing swamps and mud flats.

GERMANS GAIN IN RUMANIA

They Lose Ground on the Macedonian Battle Front.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 18.—While the German allies have lost ground in Macedonia they have made important gains in the Rumanian theatre of war during the past 36 hours.

South of Vulcan Pass General Von Falkenhayn's Austro-German army has advanced twenty miles in Rumanian territory The Teutons ared riving upon the strategic railway town of Tirgue Jiului.

In the lower Carpathians fighting is in progress in a blizzard. With incredible exertions the Austro-German forces have transported heavy artillery through the narrow snow-filled gorges and are shelling the mountain heights held by the Russian and Rumanian soldiers

In the sector of Dragoslavele, where the Austro-German troops have been reinforced, fresh efforts are being made tos mash the Russo-Rumanian defenses of Campolung Campolung is the chief objective of the Teutons in the Transylvanian Alps.

The Bulgarian and German defenses of the Servian fortress of Monastir are being pounded by the allies' artillery South of Monastir the Russian and French forces continue to advance driving the Bulgarians and Germans before them It is believed by military experts that the fortress will be in the hands of the allies within the next two or three days.

The fall of Monastir would compel the Bulgarians and Germans to re-form their lines in Servian Macedonia and to fall back over a wide front.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The re-election of President Wilson is called the "one indisputable gleam of light in the dark future that lies before the world" in a remarkable article issue printed in the Daily News today. It was written by Alfred G. Gardiner, editor of the paper. After predicting that the United States will be the leading world power after the war, Mr Gardiner continued:

"We rejoice in the election of the most sagacious statesman American politics has thrown up since Lincoln."

The writer says that Mr. Wilson's determination to keep America out of war has the passionate support of all the common people.

MODERN STYLE CAMPAIGN IDEA EXPENSIVE ONE

Up-to-Date Election Fight is Hard on Candidates and Committees.

GULLIBILITY WANING

Voters Now Demand More Arguments and No Mere Guff.

By David W. Bowman.

Campaigning in Allen county was expensive this year. Expense accounts of the candidates on the county tickets run well above the average of $150, some of them getting close to $400 and others running very low in the totals, but the accounts of the executive committees of the two leading parties show expenditures which serve once again to bring him to the public the rapidly growing cost of conducting campaigns.

The report of the republican county executive committee, filed late last night by Clerk Arthur J. Morris of the board of elections, as treasurer of the committee, shows that the G. O. P. forces in the county expended $1,821.94. Their receipts were $2,382.01, leaving a balance of $560 07. The report of Noah Basinger as treasurer of the democratic committee shows that the committee received $2,782 10, spent $2,622.17, and has a balance of $159.93.

E. G. Dempster, the most completely walloped candidate on the republican ticket, dropped $55.95 in his campaign against Probate Judge Fred C. Becker. Sheriff Sherman E. Eley invested $268.10 and his opponent J. R. Jenkins, spent $161.90. Kent W. Hughes, successful candidate for the short term as judge of the court of appeals, in the Third district, covering 16 counties, this morning filed an expense account showing the expenditure of $647.

The socialist candidates spent nothing for their campaign, and the vote reflects the cost involved. A few of the reports were not filed in time to come under the legal limit, and the names of all who failed to come through in time will be reported to the attorney general to be returned to the prosecutor, in accordance with the law. The penalty is specific but an endless chain of red tape separates the law from its execution.

* * * *

Examination of the expenditures made by candidates and committees casts an interesting light on the changing manner of conducting campaigns Old-timers who have been active in handling the contests of various nominees for a quarter of century realize the evolution under which campaigning has gone, and a few of them still cling to the old ideas of torchlight processions, rallies with food and beverages as the chief attraction, great meetings with spellbinders to pass out the hot air and such obsolete methods as prevailed in the days of Cleveland and Harrison. But it seems that the day of fireworks and spellbinding is past —and it's a good thing for the electorate at that

The recent campaign in Allen county serves to illustrate the trend of the times Interest in the presidency ran at white heat, but nobody paid much attention to the rest

Attorney J. K Rockey will defend Hall. Prosecutor Barr will be assisted in the state's side of the case by Assistant Harry O'Connor. Judge John P. Bailey of Ottawa, who presided in the trials of Milton Spyker and George Saxby, indicted on like charges, will sit in this trial.

HOW THE BRITISH HAVE ADVANCED IN SOMME REGION

In this general view of the battlefield of the Somme, the numeral 1 and arrow mark the point of the new British offensive, which began on November 13, and has pushed in the German lines on both sides of the Ancre, it is announced, for more than a mile.

No. 2 marks the point where the latest French attacks have been answered by German counter-attacks, extending from Les Boeufs, northeast of Combles, to a point a little north of the Somme. No. 3 marks the direction of the opening of the German counter offensive, later extending to the north bank of the Somme. So far, Paris reports, the German counter-attacks have had only slight, local success.

LABOR CONVENTION MAKES PILGRIMAGE TO WHITE HOUSE

Go to Thank the President for His Actions in Past.

Conservative Element Controls Federation Meet at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 18.—Labor—some 400 strong—will make a pilgrimage to Washington today to meet and thank President Wilson for his efforts in behalf of the working world. The pilgrimage will be headed by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and other leaders attending the convention of the federation here.

The men are hopeful of hearing from the president the position which the administration will take during the impending turmoil over the Adamson eight-hour bill. The president will receive the delegates late this afternoon. They will leave Baltimore on a special train at 12:55 and reach Washington an hour later, returning tonight.

After a half holiday the convention went into session again today at the Garden theater, prepared to take action on numerous resolutions which the committees have prepared for it. Leaders want to get all routine matters out of the way before the arrival here on Monday or Tuesday of the chiefs of the four great railroad brotherhoods whose coming is expected to provide the fireworks of another wise drab meeting.

Labor heads here continued to maintain today an absolute silence regarding the National Founders' association and the newly created National Industrial Conference Board, which are expected to be lined up behind the railroads in their opposition to the Adamson bill. The radical element of the convention is expected to demand retaliatory action before the convention closes. The conservatives, however, headed by President Gompers and Secretary Morrison maintains silence though President Gompers has promised to give the employers his "answer" next week.

SOLAR DIVIDEND DECLARED TODAY

The semi-annual dividend of the Solar Refining company has been declared. Stockholders will receive $5 a share payable on December 20. According to officials of the company indications predict that when business of the present year is closed on the books, a successful year will be disclosed.

The construction of the new stills that has been underway since last summer is progressing rapidly and should be entirely completed before next summer. Officials of the company predict a good future for the company, especially since the revival of drilling in this part of the state.

Europe's War Will Last at Least For Another Year, Palmer Declares

NEW PORK, Nov. 18.—Frederick Palmer, American war correspondent, arrived here on the steamer Nieuw Amsterdam, of the Holland-American line.

He expressed the opinion that the war will last at least, if not more than, another year; that Germany must eventually crack under the strain of the allied pressure, and that the solar plexus blows which will decide the war will be given on the western front.

Commenting on the present situation in Europe Palmer said:

"The Rumanian campaign will play a decisive part in the duration of the war. At the start the Rumanians ran away with the bait. They would not listen to the advice of the allied commanders. However, once they were in retreat the Rumanians were ready to take advice, and welcomed the hundred French staff officers who are in Rumania pitting their skill and an inexperienced army against German staff skill and an experienced army. The rest depends upon Russia's ability to arm her numbers and transport them and their supplies and sufficient guns and munitions.

"All winter the offensive on the western front will continue. Every time the weather is favorable the French and British, who have the guns and shells for it now, will turn on their murderous curtain of fire—whirlwind curtains, creeping curtains, double and treble and quadruple curtains—and the infantry will charge under cover of this canopy of death and tear off another gain of a mile or so of front and a thousand prisoners or more.

"Attacks for a few hundred yards of front have gone out of fashion. In attacks on a big scale losses are relatively less and the bag of prisoners bigger. Then the soldiers all like what they call a 'big show.' It counts for something. When spring comes the French and the British will continue their drives with more men and more ammunition, and the Italians will continue their. If the Russians have munitions to continue with drives of the same kind something will break somewhere on the long front of the central powers, or if it does not, the allies mean to go on with the war another year."

Mr. Palmer went on to tell how troublesome were the German machine gun positions and how the British went after them with their tanks and did not hesitate to use two or three batteries of guns to wipe out a very irritating position with shells enough to make sure that nothing could survive in the neighborhood. He added that, although the German army is still a great army, it plainly is not the army it was.

"It is poorer than a year ago," he said, 'and the French army is better."

He deprecated any notion that France is an exhausted nation, declaring that the country is now stronger in men and otherwise than a year ago.

The American correspondent asserted that there is no question that the German crown prince has lost his popularity in Germany, and added that Von Hindenburg's elevation to chief of staff was in answer to public will, and particularly the will of the trenches.

He added that the kaiser, however, still retains his hold on German affections

Mr. Palmer said that all German prisoners agree that in this war "the east is the east and the west is the west," saying that "it is a cinch fighting in the east compared to Verdun and the Somme" This is mainly due to the terrific gun concentration on the western front.

The correspondent said that the Germans intended to maintain what he termed "an elastic front" on the west and make the British and French pay a heavy price for slight gains, but, he added, "the kind of elastic front which yields Thiepval and Douaumont and Vaux cannot endure. Success in war seems to be still with the offensive, and the initiative on the western front is with the allies."

TUG OWNERS ATTACH DEUTSCHLAND FOR LOSS OF THEIR BOAT

Famous German Merchant Submarine Now Held Under Claim of $12,000

ALLIED SHIPS OFF NORFOLK

Patrol Virginia Coast For German Submarine Reported Near-ing Delaware Capes

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 18.—Allied warships are today reported to be searching for a German submarine which is believed to be cruising in the Atlantic 150 to 250 miles east of the Delaware capes. Steamers arriving here today brought word that they had been asked by British warships if any submarine had been seen.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 18.—The German merchant submarine Deutschland was today libelled in a suit for $12,000 damages brought by the T. A. Scott company, owners of the tug T. A. Scott, Jr., which was sunk by the submarine yesterday with the loss of five lives.

Service was made by Deputy United States Marshal Timothy Hawley of Hartford on the owners of the Deutschland, the Eastern Forwarding company, and a keeper was put in charge of the submarine pending the filing of bonds which are expected to be given by the owners of the Deutschland. The suit is brought by Edward E. Blodgett of Boston and Samuel Park of New York, proctors for the Scott company. The papers state that the tug was of 86 gross tons and her value is given as $12,000.

In the papers the general claim of carelessness and violation of the rules of navigation is claimed against the Deutschland.

The papers recite that the night was clear, the wind moderate and the sea choppy. The Deutschland was holding a parallel course on the port side of the tug Scott. The Deutschland, it is charged, suddenly sheered to starboard without warning and hit the tug, which filled almost instantly and sank with her crew on board.

The claim is made that the Deutschland did not have a proper lookout on deck, that there was not a competent deck officer in charge and that the undersea vessel did not have a competent man at the wheel. It is also charged that the Deutschland suddenly changed her course and was at fault in not keeping out of the way of the tug.

The further charge is made that the Deutschland did not have proper lights and that when the collision was imminent she did not reverse her engines in accordance with the rules.

The Scott company furnished a bond of $250 to cover the costs of the suit which is returnable to the United States district court in New Haven.

While the federal investigation into the fatal Deutschland accident continued today, those concerned persistently refused to discuss it publicly. It is said that all the testimony will have been taken by Monday or Tuesday.

Before the steamboat inspectors fix the blame for the destruction of the tug T. A. Scott Jr., and the loss of five lives they will hear the testimony of Captain Frederick Hinsch, an official of the Eastern Forwarding company, who was the only survivor on the tug. Captain Hinsch was confined to his home today theratened with pneumonia.

Captain Koenig has already told his story to the federal investigators.

It is reported that the insurance company and the owners of the tug might start legal proceedings.

Attorneys representing the T. A. Scott company and marine insurance companies have already arrived here.

NEW TELEGRAPH CO. WILL ENTER FIELD

ST PAUL, Minn., Nov. 18.—That a big telegraph company is to be organized in the northwest to compete with the Western Union and Postal in the railroad field is announced today by Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern.

"The western railroads are combining to form a corporation to control 48,000 miles of telegraph lines," he said. "Only tentative arrangements have been made thus far. The new company will enable the railroads to use their own wires, poles and men and handle railroad business at actual cost.

The railroad companies affected are the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Others may join them later

WOMEN OF VISITING NURSES THANK ALL WHO AIDED WORK

The Instructive Visiting Nurse association, through the press, extends sincere thanks to all the women who assisted in distributing the envelopes in the house-to-house campaign. To the Deisel company for headquarters, the Lima Telephone company for the use of a phone during the campaign and to C. Breed, C. V. Malmede and Mr. O'Connor for painting of signs and decorations, thanks are extended.

The association feels pleased with the result of the campaign, although they have not received the amount needed for next year's work. The interest and enthusiasm created among workers and subscribers was very gratifying to the association.

The association will be grateful during this Thanksgiving season, to receive any donation , or subscription to help raise the needed amount. The amount raised was $1,200. The amount needed to pay the two nurses employed with supplies for the sick room, is $2,500.

The association had hoped to be able to place a third nurse in the field, so more time could be given in the homes to the instruction of the mothers regarding the care of herself and child and also have the convenience of a down-town office.

The following is the report of the work of the two nurses during the month of October, 1916:

Number of cases first of month	22
New cases during month	68
Patients discharged	64
Patients recovered	51
Patients died	4
Remaining under care	26
No. of visits during month	583

The very efficient service given by the nurses would have been impossible had they not purchased automobiles (with their own money) so as to be able to reach all calls and no one sick or needy be neglected.

The association feels that the success of the campaign has been greatly facilitated by the co-operation of the press of Lima.

MEN FEEL TIRED, TOO.

'PENCIL PUSHERS' RECEIVED COLDLY

Hungry Reporters See Family Partake of Bounteous Feed.

Newspaper men, who never know what a square meal means, were made hungry today at noon, when father and mother and six of their children, ranging in ages from two to eight years of age, brought well-filled baskets and came to the court house for dinner. The children were lined up on the bench along the north side of the sheriff's office.

The father was a prosperous farmer, blessed with all the good things the land affords. When the table-cloth was lifted, out came fried spring chicken, ham sandwiches, two kinds of cake, great, thick pieces of pumpkin pie, delicious bread and butter and other good things.

They ate their meal leisurely and enjoyed the basket picnic. It was harder than ever for the poor newspaper man when he left, for it was nothing but coffee and sinkers until Tuesday night, since that is the time the "ghost" walks.

"He doesn't know it, but he's got everything on us," a bunch of pencil pushers agreed, as they left the court-house, with the smell of those delicious things in their noses, but of which they couldn't partake.

WE HOPE THEY ARE ELIMINATED

One surprise after another is sprung these days with daily raise in price of some food product or commodity, but probably one of the latest articles to join the aero squad is the little, detestible, alarm clock erected in hundreds of homes in the city with a frown when it starts its clatter in the morning announcing the beginning of a new day. Alarm clocks manufactured by a firm and sold at the popular price of one dollar are now retailing at $1.25.

ACQUIT WOMAN WHO SHOT DAUGHTER DEAD

MUNICH, Nov. 1.—Charged with the murder of her own daughter, 12 years old, Mrs. Marie Mais, the widow of a Bavarian reservist, has just been acquitted in the criminal court here.

When her husband was called to the colors and killed soon afterwards on the western front the woman had to support herself and her only child, a hopeless imbecile. She found employment in a harness factory. Almost every evening when she came home she found the unfortunate, helpless girl cut and bruised from falls for she was victim of epilepsy. Her efforts to place the child in an asylum were unsuccessful. In her desperation she killed the girl with a shotgun to end her misery.

The tragic story told by the widow at her trial moved all present to tears and the jury quickly agreed on a verdict of acquittal.

MILK ON JUMP

Milk dealers in the city are contemplating another advance in the price of milk in the near future as a result of the difficulty experienced obtaining the product from farmers at the present time. Farmers give as their reason for the asking a higher price from the retailer the increase in the cost of clover seed and other feed necessary for milk cows.

DIVORCED WIFE ASKS DAMAGES

Suit Results From Attack on Plaintiff 2 Months Ago.

Mrs. Hannah M. Miller, of 1018 North Jefferson street, instituted suit today in court for damages in the sum of $2,075, against Herman Rable, administrator of the estate of his father, the late Adolph Rable, from whom Mrs. Miller was divorced on July 29 of this year.

The petition states that on September 21 Adolph Rable wounded her in five places by striking her with an ice pick. She says she was confined to her bed many weeks and is just now able to be about. She avers the $75 was spent for services of a physician.

On October 14, she says she presented the bill to Herman Aable, but that he refused to think it a just claim and deferred payment. Rable died shortly after the attack on his wife, which was made along the banks of McCullough lake.

of the ticket, outside of those who make politics a profession and consider a job as the summum bonum of earthly existence. The vote follows the pay envelope the same as ever, but the public is a great deal harder to fool than it was two decades ago.

Meetings were well attended in the main, but the old-time pep was not remarkably noticeable. The candidates who put up the best arguments were favored, and those who tried to pull any such lines as "I'm entitled to it" or "the salvation of the public welfare depends upon my election got about as far as a free-trader in Pennsylvania The voters are demanding genuine, bona fide, on the level arguments nowadays, and they are beginning to recognize guff when they hear it.

Another noticeable feature is that the element of personal revenge, while to a certain degree effective, repels quite as many voters as it attracts, so this class of pussyfooting gets about an even break in the election returns. Men who were turned down at the primaries tried in a few cases to apply the skids to their successful opponents in the election, all under the cover of sweet hypocrisy, but the influence of men rejected at the nomination is waning. The cry of "sorehead" met many such attempts to knife the ticket, and it appears that the public is too sportsmanlike to follow the man who is not a game loser and cannot take his medicine like a man. But the element of vengeance is not liable to disappear until this element wakes up to that fact.

On another page is printed the official result in Allen county, showing the votes by precincts for every candidate on the entire ticket. This set of figures constitutes the box score of the political ball game which decided the championship of Allen county November 7. The returns from the Third judicial district, the Fourth congressional district and the Thirty-second senatorial district have been delayed by the fact that the local board of elections was forced to send back the official abstracts of eight or ten counties for correction. Thus the official majorities of Judge-elect Kent Hughes and Congressman-elect Ben Welty will not be obtainable before Tuesday or Wednesday.

* * * *

"Put" Sandles evidently, must have his little joke. In an editorial paragraph in this week's Putnam County Sentinel the Ottawa editor facetiously speculates about the possible future of a former congressman from the Fourth district:

Miss Rankin of Montana will go to congress. She is first woman to win this honor. House of representatives may be close between democrats and republicans. Bob Gordon of St. Marys, Ohio, is sergeant-at-arms of the house. He wants re-election. He is un-married. Miss Rankin is handsome. She is a republican. If there is a tie vote, Bob might arrange to have his wife vote for him. Gordon is a 32nd degree politician.

Question: If the lady is elected as Miss Rankin, could she be sworn in as Mrs. Gordon?

MURDER TRIAL BEGINS.

GEORGETOWN, O., Nov. 18.—The sensational feature of today's cross-examination of Mrs Ethel Wahl, principal witness in the trial of Leonard Sanders, Mt Oreb lyceryman, for the alleged murder of Mrs Wahl's husband last June, was the involving of her father-in-law. The witness, under fire of questions from the prosecution, admitted friendly relations with another man besides Sanders, although she refused to give his name.

Took the Hurt Out of Her Back.

Mrs Anna Byrd, Tuscumbia Ala., writes "I was down with my back so I could not stand up more than half the time. Foley Kidney Pills took all of the hurt out." SWISS PROTEST ONEROUS ENTENTE TRADE RULES

BERNE, Nov. 18.—The Swiss government has made a new strong protest against the blockade and blacklist methods of the entente powers, as the regulations of the allies threaten to destroy not only the export trade of Switzerland, but even the internal commercial life of the republic.

All manufacturers and exporters have been notified through the French consulates that their products in the future will only be permitted to enter France, if they furnish proof that they are not of German or Austro-Hungarian descent, have no relatives in Germany, Austria or Hungary and do not trade with firms in the Teutonic countries.

The shippers also have to pledge themselves not to resume commercial intercourse with their former German and Austrian customers in the next ten years, and to boycott all neutral firms which deal with the central powers.

To make this agreement binding the manufacturers must deposit a cash bond of $6,000 each and this sum will be forfeited if the rules laid down by France are violated. England has issued similar orders in regard to the shipment of Swiss goods to countries acress the seas.

DELIGHTFUL RECITAL WILL BE REPEATED

Program Last Evening Charms Appreciative Audience.

Perfect in every detail was the recital given last evening in Memorial hall with Wilmot Goodwin, baritone, Florence Austin, violinist, and Samuel Quincy, pianist. The program was a varied one and well-chosen to display to the best advantage the artists who participated.

In Mr. Goodwin's first group were "Arise Ye Subterranean Winds," by Purcell, the Vulcan's song, Gounod, Three Shadows, Campbell-Tipton and Serenade by Strauss. For his area he selected "Be Faithful" from Hans Heilich by Marshall which was well sung. Mr. Goodwin has an enunciation which makes his singing a delight to the ear. In his second group were The Pilgrim's Song by Techaikowsky, I Know, Spross, and Call Me No More, Cadman. In the last group Mr. Goodwin choose Woodward's "Rose Jar," The Auld Plaid Shawl by Haynes, What Will You Do, Love, by Samuel Lovett, translated from Old English and Love's Old Sweet Song. In this last number, Mr. Goodwin was accompanied by Miss Austin on the violin and the old love ballad pleased the audience more than any other number. Mr. Goodwin concluded with The Toreader's Song and this best showed his plendid range.

Miss Austin has a very pleasing appearance and handles the violin in a skilled manner. Her first number, Paraphase Sur Faust by Gounod-Alord was excellently done and Mr. Quincy's accompaniment added much to the effect. Her Leibesfrued by Kreisler and Sarasate's Zigeuner Weisen were also played with the same feeling and expression which marked all Miss Austin's numbers.

Mr. Quincy opened the program with Eighth Hungarian Rhapsody, Liszt, which he played in a capable manner. His other selections were Nachstuck by Schumann, Impromptu in A flat, Chopin, and Caprice in the Style of Scarlatti by Paderewski. The recital was presented under the auspices of the W. R. C., and will be repeated tonight.

ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATION NEEDED FOR ELECTION DEBTS

At the meeting of the finance committee of the city council last night $600 was appropriated for election expense additional to the $4,000 appropriated for election on July 1.

As the expenses were more than the original appropriation made for the city's expense, it was necessary to take the above action. Members of the committee are: Carl Rowlands. W. J. Dempster and Miller Laudick.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

By EDWARD A. MERRITT, C. S. B.

[illegible] of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, [illegible]ist Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass, Delivered in Faurot Opera House, Lima, Ohio, Nov. [illegible] 1916

CHRISTIANITY—ITS MESSAGE TO MEN—HEALS AND SAVES.

The revelation of science to religious thought is the most vital, accomplishment in the progress of mankind. Materialism had kept humanity for many centuries groping in the darkness through false concepts of Christianity. Under the influence and control of Emperor Constantine the power to heal the sick by spiritual means which had been present in the primitive church for three hundred years, was lost. Ecclesiasticism with its forms and ceremonies, tending to exalt and perpetuate personal worship and material power and influence were responsible. Centuries elapsed before Christianity could regain the vital spiritual power which its founder had provided.

Religion, according to the popular view, may be defined as the acts and forms through which men express their concepts of God and seek to commune with Him. Men and women may be faithful to their religious beliefs, but they are not relieved thereby from suffering and distress. It is evident, therefore, that they have not found practical salvation. The great Wayshower, however, taught humanity how to obtain this salvation and made his own life the standard of Christian living and accomplishment.

Consider the simplicity of the teachings of Jesus. He makes two all-important demands upon his followers, namely, to preach and to heal. These are the witnesses of true Christianity. They bear a healing being a proof of the preaching. Is not this what Christianity must express—the proof that it is divine and at the same time practical?

The demand of this age is proof of the practical availability of every product of human effort. That it may be uplifted, the race needs the knowledge of that science which Jesus demonstrated when he cleansed the lepers, healed the sick, raised the dead, and gave his promise that those who seek and find "the Father" he came to unfold to human understanding, shall do the works which he did, and even greater works.

The message of healing which Christian Science brings to the world will be more fully understood and helpful to us when we learn something of its discovery and its discoverer. In the year 1866 Christian Science was discovered by Mary Baker Eddy. Her discovery was unique in the annals of religious history. It involved spiritual or mind healing, and gave to humanity the promise of health and joy. It heralds to the world a practical, scientific and demonstrable Christianity, restoring to you and to me our birthright of dominion as sons of God.

The Church of Christ, Scientist, was established for the purpose of presenting to the world in an orderly and authoritative manner the teachings of this science. It is interesting to note that Christian Science defines a church as "the structure of truth and love; whatever rests upon and proceeds from a divine principle." (Science and Health, p 583).

God.

Christian Science adopts and interprets the first record of creation, found in the first chapter of Genesis, and bases all of its conclusions upon the premise of this record—that God is the "great First Cause" of all that is real and eternal. By this premise divine science reveals that God is one and supreme, the all-inclusive entity, and according to St. John, this one God is Spirit, is Love, and is All-in-all. Christian Science reveals God as the divine principle or law of the universe. He is the one infinite intelligence, wisdom, divine Mind. Because God is the only presence, He is present to the universe, including man, as its source of all Truth, wisdom, intelligence, and life. He is therefore everpresent to man as good, as health, as power, law, government, and the source of his supply, and as his real substance. He cannot be present to the consciousness of the real man as corporeality, material personality, matter, sin, disease, evil, for these have no part in a God who is spirit and love. But he is present to man as the only power that is available to release and redeem him from evil. The reason that evil is not true is because God never made evil, hence He never made it present to man, and its seeming presence in human experience constitutes the Adam-dream, or the unreality of the so-called mortal life.

The literal interpretation of Christian Science is the science of the Christ. Truth, or the exact, demonstrable understanding of the truth; therefore Christian Science includes all science, and is the true mirror which reflects, the original, the perfect man.

Mrs. Eddy was imbued with moral courage to challenge the world with the statement that God is not corporeal, but is divine Principle, Life, Truth, Love. She has given the world a concise statement which epitomizes the facts of being, and which, when understood, eliminates all mystery from Christianity.

Christian Science reveals to us that the image and likeness of God is spiritual, because God is Spirit. Spiritual man is defined humanly as a man thinking spiritually. Since God is All-in-all, then He is the only mind and man must think according to that mind, or his thoughts do not really constitute thinking. Moreover, man reflects the qualities, the substance, the life, the intelligence, the mind which is God. He reflects the peace, the joy the wholesome realization of health and happiness. He thinks righteous, good, pure, fearful, loving thoughts, as Paul says, "bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ," and yielding himself the servant, not of sin unto destruction but of righteousness unto life everlasting.

Christ.

There are approximately fifteen hundred different Christian religious sects or denominations all claiming to be founded upon the teachings of Christ Jesus. These sects or denominations differ wholly or in part on the question of what is the Christ? That the whole of Christendom would be united, were a common understanding reached, is easily seen.

Christian Science declares and demonstrates the fact that the terms Jesus and Christ are not synonymous, but that the term Christ is more in the nature of a title; as expressed in the words Jesus, the Christ, or, broadly interpreted, Jesus, the divinely anointed,—the son or expression of God, his divine spiritual Father or Principle.

Christian Science not only acknowledges the divinity of the Christ, but seeks without ceasing to demonstrate that divinity in human affairs. It would utterly fail in its mission if it did not acknowledge and demonstrate that it is the mind, or spirit, which was in Christ Jesus that heals the sick and reforms the sinner. Christian Science thus presents the Christ as the divine Saviour, the representative of God to humanity. To be divine is to partake of the nature of Diety. Hence the Christ was the divinity of the man Jesus, voicing God's spiritual message to human consciousness.

The Text-Book.

Our text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy, has already reached thousands of homes, where it is teaching the way of righteousness and peace, and has established health and joy in place of sickness and sorrow.

This book, Science and Health, carefully studied, has healed practically every ailment and disabled condition.

Christian Science leads the thoughts of men to a more satisfying life, and brings assurance of divine guidance and spiritual healing. It establishes that trust and confidence which ultimately enables men to realize the "peace of God, which passeth all understanding."

NEGRO LEADER IS EULOGIZED

Over three hundred negroes assembled at the Second Baptist church last night, in commemoration of the birth of Booker T. Washington, who died November 15, 1915. Speakers who delivered addresses at the church last evening hailed Washington as the greatest leader of the negro race.

According to Rev. Mr. Mitchell, pastor of the church, a plea will be made to the governor next week to designate November 17 a state-wide holiday in honor of the celebrated leader.

BITTEN BY SNAKE HE OPERATES ON HIMSELF

ALBANY, Ga., Nov. 18.—Because he had presence of mind enough to quickly cut out the flesh surrounding the wound in his leg caused by a rattlesnake's bite, Wilbur Wortman saved his life where medical attention later would have failed. He has been pronounced entirely out of danger by attending physicians.

Wortman was spending the day in the woods with a party of friends. He became separated from the others and was unable to attract their attention when the reptile bit him. After cutting the poisoned flesh out he tied the wound up with his handkerchief and made his way to a negro cabin nearby.

DEMAND OUTSTRIPS SUPPLY AT HIGHER MARKET PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Dun's Review has this to say regarding trade conditions.

The phenomenon of demand outstripping supply at the highest prices of modern times continues apparent in many lines. Competitive bidding and increasing costs of production steadily accentuates the strength of the leading commodities, and still further advances are foreshadowed by the eagerness of buyers to obtain urgently needed materials and products. As was to be expected, a certain hesitancy has developed in some quarters as a result of the extreme levels current, yet it becomes more evident that reluctance to sell is a greater influence in limiting new business than the rapidly rising prices. The rush to get forward orders on the books of producers is practically general and in some instances purchasing extends well into 1918, but the works nearly everywhere are so closely sold up and ahead that each week the number of rejected contracts increases. Some manufacturers have virtually withdrawn from the markets, either through inability to engage themselves further, or because of the prospects that quotations will go still higher, and buyers who previously held off now experience much difficulty in covering their requirements, though premiums are frequently offered. Every effort is made to augment output and producing facilities are extended wherever possible, but operations at many plants continue hampered by labor scarcity and car shortages that delay shipments of raw materials. The extraordinary situation in the industrial field overshadows conditions in mercantile channels, yet retail distribution is of record proportions, in spite of the high and rising costs, and has been stimulated materially in the East and West, and in some sections of the south, by decidedly lower temperatures.

DECLARES WEDDING FUNNIEST EVER

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—If Mrs. August A. Baum, a modiste, did not have such a keen sense of humor she would not be seeking a divorce.

"I had known my husband only 48 hours but I thought it a great joke to get married," said she today. "I could not stop laughing during the ceremony. It was funnier than the ceremony. It was funnier than Mrs. Baum charges that her husband represented himself as a monied man, but proved different. He is an oculist.

McCORMICK'S WORK

Rumors involving the possibility of changes in the second cabinet of President Wilson are as varied as they are persistent, and booms for favored sons of this state are becoming more and more numerous. The fact that Secretary Daniels is unpopular with a frivolous element is urged by those who have other candidates for the navy portfolio as a basis for the removal of Josephus, despite the fact that he has done much good work for the navy. The comparison of the armies of Washington and Villa, distorted and exaggerated by the Hughes managers for campaign purposes, is utilized by those who are desirous of elevating some favorite son to the war department. McAdoo's relationship to the president, in the capacity of son-in-law, is cited as a cause for complaint by those who would make some local hero the head of the treasury department. Only three of the able statesmen in the Wilson cabinet are immune from attack, and that trio will stand with the best cabinet material of a generation—Robert Lansing of New York, Franklin K. Lane of California and David F. Houston of Missouri. No better executives have held department portfolios in a quarter of a century.

But even the secretary of state is now the subject of discussion, for friends of National Chairman Vance C. McCormick hope to see him made head of the state department. Lansing has been a keen and efficient secretary, put in charge at a critical time, with little warning of the approach of his great responsibilities, comparatively unknown and handicapped by the course of his predecessor. He has undoubtedly made good, and it would be a loss to the nation if he were removed—but there ought to be some place found for McCormick.

The national chairman represents a new type in American politics. His predecessor, McCombs, was a forerunner of the type. Both represent the young men in politics, a new force of growing prestige. They are the college heroes of two decades ago, the campus leaders in athletics or student affairs.

This new type has produced no professional politicians. It has produced no eminent criminals. Men of great education, to be sure, some of them the most brilliant scholars of their classes at various universities, have been among our greatest political bosses and engineers of corrupt machines. But they are not the representatives of the type of McCombs and McCormick.

Vance E. McCormick represents the active, aggressive college graduate who has turned to politics only from a sincere conviction that a certain principle is right or wrong. This type has brought into American politics a new impetus hitherto unknown among the old school connivers and contrivers of plots—playing the game on the level.

The man who has been in his day the full back on an eleven composed of husky youths, filled with the love of a scrap and trained to play the game cleanly and fairly, rarely forgets his early training. He considers dirty tactics unsportsmanlike. He resents the slightest imputation of unfairness. He avoids all connection with "soldiering", breaking training, cheating and the like. And he is perhaps the best prepared type in the land for clean American citizenship.

McCormick has injected that spirit into politics by his work in the recent campaign. He has managed a great election without the slightest rumor of scandal. He has successfully conducted one of the best-handled campaigns in the nation's history. He has broken records for popular vote and for Democratic strength. He had upset precedent by winning without New York and the East. He has outguessed the G. O. P. veterans in a dozen states. And never during the campaign has any political observer, in either party, had a word other than one of admiration, for the Democratic national chairman.

There ought to be a place for McCormick. There isn't a man in the cabinet we would like to see dropped, but it is to be hoped that in case the president sees fit to select new timber for his next cabinet he will find a position of trust and honor for the aggressive and clean-cut Pennsylvanian who managed his campaign.

PURE BUNK

Now that the election is past The Chicago Tribune, rabidly pro-Teddy in 1912 and equally fanatically pro-Charlie this year, frankly admits that the "after-the-war" slogan of the G. O. P. is devoid of the smallest vestige of common sense.

If a panic were to follow the European war under a Democratic administration, that panic would as inevitably follow the war under a Republican regime. If an emergency tariff for exclusion is to be needed after the cessation of hostilities, the Democrats can pass it as well as the Republicans. The anti-dumping law passed by the Sixty-fourth congress at the request of Wilson meets every point in the Republican argument, and there is no justification for the old-fashioned robber tariff urged by the Republicans for immediate adoption.

If a panic were to follow the war in case of the continuance of Democratic administration, that panic would have come before this. Delicate structure and co-ordinate communication make American finance a very sensitive organism. The fluctuations from day to day are much the result of the news of the day. The election of Wilson means that he will in all probability be president when the war ends, and the assurance of that fact would start the crash if one were certain to come later.

But campaign talk must and will persist. Barnum's homely philosophy is just as true of political life as of any other phase of life—the American people like to be fooled. But as Lincoln observed, they can't all be fooled all the time.

HIGH PRICE OF COAL

What is the reason for the high price of coal? This is the question that is being asked by many residents of Lima. Since it is almost impossible to find the cause of the carboniferous product joining the aero squad and the fact that dealers themselves are unable to give answer to the query, it is up to the prosecutor to delve into the question.

Among all of the reasons for the big advance in price the shortage of cars seems to be the most feasible, although railroad men are not unanimous in this opinion. Another cause advanced is the competition between representatives of manufacturing concerns and wholesale dealers for the product causes the former to offer a higher price than the other can pay and results in the advance to all consumers.

If the prosecutor were to probe the situation he would without doubt be able to ascertain the true reason for the increase over the price of a year ago. It is possible for the official to investigate the situation under the state law which makes it an offense to combine with the intent of restraint of trade.

HILO.

Hilo is the other city of the Hawaiian islands, the little sister to Honolulu. It is the biggest city on the biggest island of the group, but the northern capital has drawn the attention of visitors and writers until Hilo is less known than it deserves. There is rather more of the color of the southern seas in Hilo than in Honolulu, although Hilo is pretty thoroughly American.

Honolulu people are wont to speak disparagingly of Hilo, its conveniences and its climate. It is quite true that Honolulu climate is probably unequalled in the archipelago, being as one visitors put it, the kind they have in Heaven on Sundays; but Hilo has its compensations. If they do have tropic rainstorms there, the tropic rainstorm is a wonderful and inspiring thing, unless you happen to be out in its without an umbrella. The quick gathering of the clouds, the darkening air, the electric tension, the flash of lightning, and the fierce vicious downpour that is not a rain but a cataract all go to make a spectacle worth seeing, especialy from under a tight roof.

Hilo is rather warm and languid; the breeze from the mountains effectually prevents discomfort, but never gets enough of an edge to stir body or mind to any notable efforts. It takes a raw northeaster to teach one how energetic he can really feel. But the soft airs are wonderfully stimulating to all the plant family; here in Hilo the palms, the banana trees and the shrubs with their great gaudy blossoms all grow to enormous sizes. It is a luxuriant garden of leaf and flower, and over it rises the cloud-shrouded head of Mauna Kea, 14,000 feet above the leven of the Pacific. There are peaks in the Rockies more than 14,000 feet high, but they do not cool their feet in the ocean.

The people of Hilo, like all Hawaiians are well-built indolent sons of the tropics, spending half their time in the water and thoroughly at home there. Hilo is full of the sound of waters. A brawling river runs through a principal street, and its rocks are usually crowned by reckless small brown boys, flirting with what looks like a certain water death that never quite overtakes them.

THRIFT

Thrift is not merely hoarding money.

It means the intelligent making of money, the wise spending of money, and the careful saving of your profits.

When you regularly put away in the Savings Account some of all you make, you are led to expend money more wisely and to earn it more industriously.

Studebaker

Advance in Prices of Studebaker Cars

On or about December 1st, the prices of Studebaker cars---both the FOUR and the SIX--will be advanced from $75 to $100 over prevailing prices.

In the face of the rapid increase in the cost of raw materials entering into the construction of Studebaker cars, present prices have been maintained. But now conditions in the industry have reached a point where Studebaker is forced to add a substantial increase to these prices.

For the past eighteen months there have been rapid advances in the cost of all raw materials entering into the manufacture of automobiles---especially on steel of all kinds, pig iron, castings, stampings, sheet metal, aluminum, leather and upholstering materials. And these advances range all the way from 40% to 150%.

Studebaker has always been satisfied with a small margin of profit---and you may rest assured that, even with a substantial increase over prevailing prices, both the FOUR and the SIX will still be the most powerful seven-passenger cars in the world at their price. And you will still have to pay from $300 to $600 more to equal them in power, roominess, economy, beauty of design, and all-round dependability.

Our allotment of Studebaker cars at the present prices is very limited and is likely to be exhausted at any time. So, if you want to save from $75 to $100, we urge you to come in at once.

To describe Mme. Labadie, who will appear here Friday evening, December 1, as a dramatic reader, a reader of dramas, fails hopelessly to convey to those who have not heard her, just the character of her work. Her purpose of dramatic presentation and the effect that she produces by her interpretations, cannot be illustrated by mere words.

At a period when the physical eye is being satiated with sumptuous productions in which color, form and display of scenic effects play an important part and without which the play would lose much of its significance, the ordinary intellect of the average theater-goer has become so used to having others perform its labors that its imaginative powers are being depleted. Mme. Labadie draws upo. the imagination of her auditors and produces a mental activity that stimulates to such a degree that one is able to see just as clearly with the mental eye as with the physical eye. All the material effects are eliminated and in projecting her characters mentally, Mme. Labadie makes her auditors forget, while the drama lasts, her own personality. Thus the mind of the auditor, undisturbed by the effect of any material object on the vision, receives the full value of the lines of the play and the impression left is that of a unified whole, and the dramatic ideal, that each character shall be portraye das perfectly as the leading one, is realized in that each character is dealt with by the one intelligent mind.

Mme. Labadie's appearance in the city will be made under the auspices of the City Federation of Clubs.

Daily Fashion Hint

By La Raconteuse.

Curious hat shapes have appeared recently. The designer is ever anxious to obtain something different and new. Apparently in the case of the illustration, she has succeeded and the result is that one finds a hat of pressed beaver with one-half of the brim cut and bent up to meet the crown at a severe angle. A spray of cogne feather is placed flat on the brim.

Women are enthusiastic over these smart new Wooltex coat styles

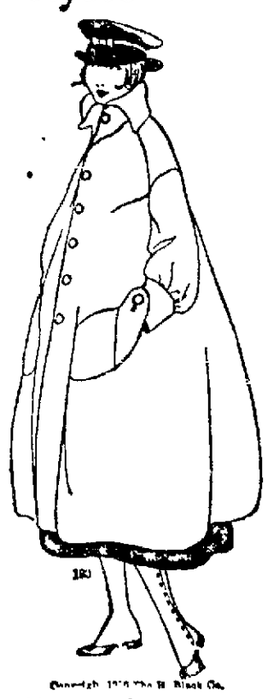

A visitor yesterday to our coat section was fairly amazed by the scope of new models now showing.

And she had been all over town looking.

She came in with a friend who had returned to get a semi-belted model in fine wool velour which had been set aside for her.

The visitor herself was so taken with a heavy pebble worsted coat, with its saucy chin-chin collar, that she also was a purchaser—although she had heretofore bought only in New York.

A third type of coat, quite different from either of these two, has the great cape collar effect and roomy pouch pockets—it is shown to the right. No. 190. To be had both in soft thick wool velours and velour mixtures.

No. 190—One of our Smart Wool Velour Models at $25

And there are many more types here now. The smartness and range of this collection is unusual, even for our store. Come and see them—whether to look or buy.

THE FAUROT'S PICTURES.

"The Wheel of the Law," the Metro feature at the Faurot today starring Emily Stevens is a striking exampe of what intelligent direction and competent acting can do for a scenario. This five-reel photoplay, is a preachment against convicting a man on circumstantial evidence. The leading male character in "The Wheel of the Law" is an ambitious district attorney who has won a reputation by his ability to secure convictions on circumstantial evidence, and the plot makes him work with might and main to convict a man of murder, after he has been promised the governorship by the real murderer if he secures the conviction. The lawyer's wife is the sister of the innocent man, but he will not listen to her pleadings until she shows her husband that it is possible to entangle even a district attorney in the same mesh.

The story, in the excellent form in which it is presented, cannot fail to hold the undivided attention of the spectator. The superior qualities of the production are many and reflect great credit upon the director. The scenes depicting stage life have never been surpassed and seldom equalled. The acting of Emily Stevens, Frank Mills, Edwin Holt, Harry Davenport, Raymond McKee, Jerome N. Wilson, Charles Eldridge and Rowa Raymond was also of the best.

The feature is accompanied by a clever comedy, "Their Divorce," in which Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew appear; new Paramount Pictographs and a "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon.

When Ann Pennington was creating a sensation on the stage in the "Ziegfeld Follies," the little star decided that she had enough spare time to become a motion picture satellite, constellation or luminary. She accordingly made her motion picture debut in the Famous Players-Paramount production "Susie Snowflake," in which she scored a decided success. So happy was the outcome of this first venture that Miss Pennington declared herself ready and willing to be starred again on the screen.

So when the Famous Players informed her that they had secured "The Rainbow Princess" for her second photoplay, the diminutive star was delighted. It was such a pretty title, she thought. But when Director J. Searle Dawley began outlining the story to her, Miss Pennington's eyes gradually opened until they were in great danger of popping out! This is a rough outline of what Dawley told her:

"You have a few scenes in the lions' cage; you go up in a balloon and make a parachute descent with a dog; you fall on the judge's lawn when the parachute goes wrong; you do several side-show stunts in the circus and dance your big Hula Hula in one scene; you catch your former employer robbing the judge's house after the latter has taken you in as his granddaughter. But you are an imposter, put in the house by the circus men as a tool through which they are to rob the judge. There is a big fight in which one of the thieves is killed—"

At this point Miss Pennington gasped and wondered whether she would have time to do all that, after all. But she was assured that all arrangements had been completed, even to the renting of an entire circus and the hiring of a big lot upon which to erect the tents and the side-shows. So the diminutive dancer steeled her nerves for the ordeal, and has come through with flying colors.

She was naturally right in her element when the Hula dance was staged. This is the dance with which she has captivated the "Follies" audiences this season. When the Famous Players staged the scene, the entire Hawaiian orchestra which accompanies Miss Pennington on the "Follies" stage was secured to accompany her in order to give the dance as much of the proper atmosphere as possible and to provide the dancer with the best obtainable music.

These numerous exciting and picturesque scenes in which Miss Pennington appears are linked together by a story which is a delightful combination of comedy and drama.

In support of Miss Pennington there appear william Courtleigh, Jr., Edwin Sturgis, Charles Sutton, Lee, Clifford Gray, and Augusta Anderson.

"The Rainbow Princess" will be the main attraction at the Faurot for two days beginning Sunday.

It will be accompanied by a new Bray cartoon, "Colonel Heeze Liar Get Married," and a new edition of the Pathe News.

The two brilliant screen stars, Thomas Meighan and Anita King, will be seen at the Faurot on Tuesday and Wednesday in the Jesse L. Lasky production for the Paramount program of "The Heir to the Horrah," a photoplay.

Thomas Meighan has long been a star in his own right, but heretofore he has been engaged by the Lasky Company to play as leading man for some of the most noted stars in the country, including Blanche Sweet, Marie Doro, Charlotte Walker and others.

In co-starring him with the versatile and beautiful Anita King the Lasky Company feels that it has effected a combination that will prove most popular to photodramatic audiences. For some time the organization has been hunting for a suitable vehicle for these stars, and finally secured the photodramatic rights to this big stage success.

Mr. Meighan, before he signed a long term contract with the Lasky Company, was one of the country's most popular dramatic actors, scoring his greatest success iff "Just Out of College," and concluding his stage career as the attorney for the defense in "On Trial," a play which run for nearly two years in New York City.

Anita King recently appeared in support of Theodora Roberts in "Anton the Terrible" and also scored a great success in the thrilling drama, "The Race," founded on her famous transcontinental automobile trip.

The story of "The Heir to the Hoorah" has to do with three miners who own the richest mine in California. They decided that they must have an heir to whom they may leave their wealth, and the youngest is elected to marry. In the meantime a mercenary society woman, desiring that her daughter should make a wealthy marriage, arranges a meeting with a wealthy miner, which eventually ends in their wedding. How the scheming mother-in-law separates the two and how they are finally brought together, is shown in a number of unusual incidents.

In the cast supporting Mr. Meighan and Miss King, are such well known artists as Horace B. Carpenter, Ernest Joy, Eydthe Chapman, Little Billy Jacobs and others.

"The Heir to the Hoorah" will be preceded by Burton Holmes' "Vesuvius in Eruption," the Pathe News and a "Katzenjammer Kids" cartoon.

Mabel Taliaferro, the charming and gifted Metro star, who was last seen here in "God's Half Acre," will be the feature attraction at the Faurot on Thursday and Friday in "The Dawn of Love," a new Metro five-part wonderplay. Miss Taliaferro has an exceptionally strong cast with her in this production which includes such well known players as Robert W. Frazer, Leslie M. Stowe, Peter Lang, Martin J. Faust, D. H. Turner, Frank Bates and Jack La Mond. The story is laid along the picturesque rocky coasts of northern Maine, and unfolds a charming romance. Some unusual effects have been obtained and Miss Taliaferro was never seen to better advantage on either the stage of screen. She will be remembered by theatre-goers for her excellent work in "Polly of the Circus," "Springtime," "Mrs. Giggs of the Cabbage Patch," and other notable stage successes. She was the first legitimate star to go into motion pictures and she ranks at the top in popularity. Channing Pollock and Rennold Wolf are the authors of the story upon which the photoplay is based.

"The Dawn of Love" will be accompanied by a clever comedy, "The Future Man," with Ralph Herz in the leading role, new Paramount Pictographs, and a "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon.

MARY PICKFORD IN "LESS THAN THE DUST".

In "Less Than the Dust", Mary Pickford will be seen as a little castaway, an orphan of English birth, who, deserted and alone, becomes alike to the natives and dwells among the lowest caste of the Hindoos. At the opening of the story a rebellion caused by some dispute over the sacred rites of the people and their abuse by the provincial government, is in progress, the natives and soldiers of the British garrison in conflict. Radha, the girl portrayed by Miss Pickford, had been adopted by a sword maker. During the warfare she meets Captain Richard Townsend of the loyal garrison. She is greatly impressed by him and looks up to the soldier as an exalted person. In a later scene when the little girl in her playful and innocent way falls into the sacred waters of the pool at the temple she is charged with desecration and is attacked by an infuriated mob of fanatical natives. Captain Townsend arrives on the scene and saves her.

Mrs. Bradshaw, the wife of a fellow officer of Townsend's has fallen in love with the latter and when she learns of his friendliness for the girl resents it and shows her dislike at all times. However, Radha still clings to her admiration for the dashing young captain. During a severe fight between soldiers and natives the girl saves the life of the captain when he falls wounded in the field.

During the rebellion the foster father of Radha is thrown into prison and before she can get his release Captain Townsend is sent to England on a furlough to recuperate from his wounds. Then it is that she organizes a rescuing party and attempts to get her father out of prison. She is about to be killed when her father reveals the fact that the girl is not his daughter but is the child of an English officer who becoming addicted to drugs had dropped to the level of a social derelict. Radha knowing the officer has shown him great sympathy never being aware of the relationship.

The derelict is the grandson of a wealthy Englishman. Radha is sent to England to see him and also to find Captain Townsend. It develops that Townsend is a nephew of the same old gentleman, who had died before the girl reached England. He has left his fortune to Townsend. Arriving at the estate Radha is surprised to find her captain there. She tells him of her foster fathers' plight and the officer uses his influence to get his release. The little girl remains in England and is sent to school. Gradually the fondness for each other grows into love and Townsend and Radha are married.

This wonderful feature picture will be shown at the Orpheum, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 30, 21 and 22.

BABY HAD WHOOPING COUGH.

Mrs. Sam C. Small, Clayton, N. M., writes: "My grandson had whooping cough when he was three months old. We used Foley's Honey and Tar and I believe it saved his life. He is now big and fat." Foley's Honey and Tar is a fine thing to have in the house for whooping croup, coughs, colds. H. F. Vortkamp. tu-th-sat

Ample Room For Error

ANN PENNINGTON, FAMOUS PLAYERS STAR IN PARAMOUNT PICTURES.

If we were simply to caption this picture "A scene from Ann Pennington's next Famous Players-Paramount picture, 'The Rainbow Princess,'" it might lead to a serious case of mistaken identity. The eye traveling to the most conspicuous object first, one might be deceived as to which of the feminine figures is that of the star. The diminutive sylph on the extreme left who seems to be posing as a model for the Beef Trust is not Miss Pennington, nor is the lady who is serving as a hatrack for the snake. So we arrive by the process of elimination to the inevitable conclusion that Miss Pennington is the figure seated on the ground futilely trying to stare through the gigantic proportions of the Obese Wonder. "The Rainbow Princess" marks the second appearance of the little Ziegfeld "Follies" star on the screen, her debut having been made as Susie Snowflake in the production of that name which appeared several weeks ago.

Chipwas of the Opinion That He Was In His Bed

By Frank G. Menke.

"Snowy" Baker, the Australian promoter, sent the following as an aftermath of the Les Darcey-George Chip fight in Sydney on September 30th which Darcy won with a knockout in the ninth round:

"Chip was in a bad way after being knocked out and his seconds had some trouble in bringing him to. Tom McMahon was pulling his hair and shaking his head, while Jimmy Dime was slapping his face and in other ways trying to resuscitate him.

"At last George came to with a jerk, and when Dime called to him he seemd as though he woke with a start, for he said:

"Hello! What's wrong?"

"Dime smiled a sad grim smile and replied:

"'You've been knocked out.'

"Chip looked at Dime for a few seconds, and then grinned:

"'Omit trying to kid me, Jimmy,' he said. 'How could I be knocked out when the fight doesn't begin until tonight.'

"Dime had quite a time convincing the stupefied Chip that he wasn't in his own bed on the morning before the fight, but that he actually was on the floor of the ring in which Darcy had dealt out to him such a crushing defeat."

Higher Education?

Fullback Walker Jean of Heidelberg college (Ohio) played an entire game against Western Reserve (Ohio), with a broken rib.

A Pennsylvania player kicked a hole in the jaw of Captain Bob Peck of Pittsburgh. A doctor plugged it full of cotton and Peck finished the game.

A Yale player smashed Halfback Ruble of W & J, in the nose, nearly breaking it, but he stayed in.

Cofall of Notre Dame, was tackled so hard by an army man, that he was knocked unconscious. When he recovered he resumed play.

Berry of Pennsylvania, crushed under the weight of the Penna State line, and bruised and bleeding, fought his mates who carried him from the field. He wanted to stay in the battle.

And so, ad infinitum.

Elephants, Too, Dan?

"Battling Levinsky has everything to make him popular. He is of a pleasing appearance and a gentleman all over, besides being the most marvelous boxer of the age. He is willing to meet anything that walks at any time and any place."—Dan Morgan.

'Twas Ever Thus in Golf.

"Jim used to play in 85, his game was fairly good—could putt, approach and cut the ball, was steady with his wood. Then Jim read all the golfer's books, absorbed each written line, and found his game was going bad, he played in 89. Kind friends essayed to help Jim out—instructed what to do, he followed all their kindly tips—and played in 92. And then he cut out theories—just practiced day by day—with different clubs a hitting—at the ball where e'er it lay. So Jim now finds an 80, is no trick to play at all, if he practices plain hitting—just plain—'Hitting at the ball'."—Dan Webster in the November Golfer's Magazine.

Jess Willard Take Note?

John Bain Sutherland of Pitt, who ranks as one of the best football guards in America, never played the American game until two years ago. He is a Scot and went to the University of Pittsburgh for his schooling direct from his domicile over the sea.

Sutherland, by the way, is an all-around athlete and his boxing prowess has influenced many enthusiastic fight promoters to urge him to become a professional heavyweight when he graduates. But Sutherland is going to be a dentist.

Two winters ago, Sutherland, who towers 6-1 and beams 190—entered a boxing tourning in McKeesport, Pa.—"Just for fun". Pat Herron and Bob Peck, fellow footballers for the Panthers, went along to act as towel swingers, and seconds.

When Peck and Herron saw Sutherland's opponent they begged the Pitt boy to "duck". The rival slugger weighed only 260 pounds, was several inches taller than Sutherland, had a tremendous reach and the reputation for being ag reat boxer and a "Kill-'em-dead" hitter.

Sutherland wouldn't beat it—so Peck and Herron did. They rushed out to get an ambulance and nurses and doctors and embalming fluid and a shroud for Sutherland. When they got back the fight was over—and a doctor was needed for Sutherland's foe. The collegian hit the other fellow just once—and goodnight.

Big Teams Still Have a Chance

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Big Nine elevens which so far have neglected to get a good rating in the conference race have a chance to rehabilitate themselves today. Incidentally, if they do they will shoot the dope full of holes.

This refers particularly to Chicago and Purdue. If the former can take Illinois into camp and the latter wallop Northwestern they will go far toward restoring themselves in the good graces of their own rooters at least. As far as the Minnesota-Wisconsin game at Minneapolis is concerned it is a stand off. Each team has been beaten once this season and each time the result was unexpected.

Northwestern, with a clean slate so far, should beat Purdue, but the dope has been spilled so much this season another upset would not be a surprise. The field at Evanston is in splendid condition and classy foot ball may be expected.

At Urbana, Illinois, in the best condition this year, is picked to win over Chicago. But the Maroons have improved, how much not even the team itself knows. If the backfield has managed to acquire perfect working order even that stone wall of the Illinois may crumble.

Those whose allegiance is not wrapped up in the conference teams entirely will turn their eyes toward Ann Arbor today. Michigan will take on Pennsylvania in the big intersectional struggle of the year. The Wolverines have shown weak spots but are picked to beat the easterners but by a narrow margin.

Notre Dame will take on the Michigan Aggies and should win, although thef armers have a strong team.

Other games in which Big Nine teams play each other, three conference teams will be in action. Iowa plays Iowa State, Ohio will take on Case and Indiana battles the University of Florida at Bloomington.

St Mary's Wallops Grace Five

Reid Plays a Good Defensive Game

Handicapped by a slippery floor and even more so by the football tactics of the St. Marys basketball players, Grace went down to defeat last night by a score of 40 to 33, before a large crowd of fans who materially helped in winning the game for the home team.

The first half ended with the local lads leading by one point, 19-18. At the beginning of the second half the Lima team started right off with a safe lead, and it looked much as if they would be the victors by a fair margin. With five minutes to play, the score 31-27 in Grace's favor, the rough work became more prominent than earlier in the game and when the game ended Grace was on the losing end. A fast scoring rush by the church boys, was [illegible] the defensive goods.

A game is scheduled with the St. Marys team to play here at the Grace gym early in December, at which time the Grace players hope to get revenge for the defeat last night.

Next Wednesday night a fast team from Ottawa will stack up against the Grace boys at the church gym here. Manager Clovenger has received many letters from managers of basketball fives in other cities and a big scheduled of games is being arranged for the Grace lads. This popularity of the Lima team is due to the good record made last year, when they defeated some of the best teams in this section of the state.

Wilson to Attend Army Navy Game

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—President Woodrow Wilson will attend the Army-Navy game at the Polo grounds next Saturday, Nov. 25. Boxes have been reserved on both sides of the gridiron for the president and his party. He will witness the first half of the game from the Army side and the second half from the Navy side. The president's reservations are in the upper tier of the grandstand. Secretary of the Navy Daniels will have a box on the Navy side and Secretary of War Baker will sit on the Army side.

Two games were rolled on the alleys at the South Side last evening. The first was a hotly contested one with the Rovers having the edge on the Eagles by 43 pins. Welsted was credit with the best mark.

The second affair was still closer than the first, with the Crowns having just ten pins more to their credit than the Owls. Score:

Star Ball Players to Visit 'Bob'

Bob Ewing, ex-big leaguer, will have as his company for the coming week, Grover Cleveland Alexander, crack twirler of the Philadelphia National league base ball club; Wade Killifer, catcher for the same team, and Captain Luderus, first sacker of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The trio of stars are expected to arrive at Ewing's home, at New Hampshire, some time today.

Among the numerous attractions that Bob has in store for the entertainment of the party, hunting will be the main sport. Lake View will probably be the picked spot where the marksmen will put in most of their time.

Midshipmen to Stay in New York After Army-Navy Game

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 18.—The plan of permitting the regiment of midshipmen to remain in New York the night after the Army-Navy football game was so successful last year that it will be repeated this season, but midshipmen will number over 400 more than they did at that time. This year the regiment of midshipmen numbers of 1300.

Providence and Des Moines Will Have Racing Teams

Chicago, Indianapolis, New York, Cincinnati, Uniontown, (Pa.), Providence and Des Moines are a few of the speedways which will send forth teams of racing drivers in 1917 to joust on the gasoline circuit for the fame of their respective cities.

The financing of racing groups to represent the various tracks has at last been made possible by the formation, at the Chicago Automobile club on Wednesday, November 15th, of the American Speedways Association. All the major and minor speedways were represented, either in the person of their manager or by proxy. The association has been tentatively under way for some time, and that it is not altogether a matter of financial self interest for the speedways interested, is shown by the amount of time which has been spent in ascertaining the opinions of the drivers and that portion of the sporting public interested in automobile racing. Hitherto racing events on speedways have had to have the sanction of a contest board, consisting of members of the American Automobile Association. In recent years, however, so many problems peculiar to speedway racing have arisen, that the individual owners of the same have felt that the interest both of themselves and the motor racing fans would be further safeguarded by thef ormation of the association as it stands at present. It is hardly likely that any change in the existing arrangement, whereby championship events as such are authorized by the A. A. A. contest board, will take place. The members of the new A. S. A. will be occupied for some time to come in placing the sport of spedway racing on a basis which will be mutually satisfactory to all concerned. This includes the public, who have been inclined to assume that their individual likes and dislikes have not altogether been taking into consideration in the framing of the various racing contests.

Most motor car owners, after they become proficient in the running of their cars, are inclined to endeavor to develop their racing possibilities. Altogether hitherto the number of events in which they could enter their cars have been limited, it is the intention of speedway managers in future to make regular stock car contests a feature of their annual programs and develop a new crop of racing drivers of more than amateur ability.

Membership in the new American Speedway Association comprises two classes: Class A members, including two mile or more tracks, and Class B members, which comprises speedways with tracks under two miles in length.

Board of governors: Class A speedways: James A. Allison, Indianapolis; Harry S. Harkness, New York; H. S. Lehman, Cincinnati; D. F. Reid, Chicago.

Executive committee: T. E. Myer, Indianapolis; D. F. Reid, Chicago; Harry S. Harkness, New York.

Which Team Which Win?

By Frank G. Menke.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 18.—The football hungry, dressed in their gayest toggery, came to this quaint little town today for the Yale-Princeton feast that will be spread before them in the afternoon.

Princeton welcomed its guests with a flutter of thousands of flags; with homes and buildings draped with the commingled blue and white of Yale and the sombre orange and black of Princeton. Old graduates and college fledglings, pretty girls and handsomely dressed matrons, mingled on the streets of the town today; waved their favorites' colors in the other's faces and forgot dignity and decorum with cheers for the team they hoped would win the big gridiron battle.

The game today was the sole topic of conversation among the 42,000 folks who have gathered here to witness what promises to be the most grueling struggle that the two old rivals have fought out in many years.

"Which team will win?"

That was the all-absorbing question. And no answer could be found in the wagering. The betting in the main was even money and take your choice. Here and there a few wagers were made with Princeton on the long end of 10 to 9. But those were offered only by over-enthusiastic Tigers.

Princeton probably will be minus the services of Dave Tibbot, its star drop kicker. And this is a big handicap, because the Tigers have not another man on the squad who can be depended upon to boot a field goal from any angle or any distance.

Those who have tried to figure out which way the battle will end admit Princeton superiority in the line and Yale supremacy in all around backfield power. And that's as far as the dope extends.

"Luck may decide," is the consensus of the dopesters' opinion.

And if it does the chances are that it will favor Yale, as it always has won the smiles of fortune; always some "break" would come in their favor as it did last year.

The probable line-up:

Yale	Position	Princeton
Hutchinson	center	Gennert
Fox	right guard	Hogg (Capt.)

Many a "Grouch" Could Be Glad

Too often a person's disposition is blamed, when it is his digestion that is at fault. Some time when the world looks blue and dingy, when you feel an irresistible impulse to snap and snarl, when you feel dull and gloomy, stuffed up and uncomfortable—with a mean headache, bilious stomach, furred tongue—then take a Foley Cathartic Tablet.

If your bowels are sluggish, if your intestines are clogged with a decomposing poisonous mess, if you are not eliminating properly, this little tablet will afford prompt, sure and safe relief without griping, pain, nausea or costive effects.

Foley Cathartic Tablets are a genuinely wholesome physic—an ideal laxative. They keep the system fit and fine, purged of poisons, and ready to resist disease. Stout people say they have no equal for bringing a light and free feeling.

Sold by druggists everywhere. Distributed by Foley & Co., Chicago, makers of the celebrated Foley's Honey and Tar, for coughs and colds.
